TIPS FOR CLEANING

- 1. You'd think that with all the soap and water that flow through sinks that they'd be perpetually clean—but that's not so. Soap deposits, food stains, rust, and water spots will all build up if you don't stay on top of them. How often you should scrub a sink depends on how much use it gets: A good recipe for a clean sink is a squirt of dishwashing liquid added to a bowl of warm water. Dip a sponge in the mixture, and scrub gently. If you want to give the sink a more thorough scrub, try an all-purpose cleaning spray or a non-abrasive cleaner.
- 2. Mix up 1 cup of baking soda with 1 cup of salt and 1/4 cup cream of tartar. Keep it in an airtight, childproof container. Every few weeks, pour 1/2 cup of the mixture down each drain, followed by a quart of boiling water. And of course, do your best to keep hair, soap, grease, food, and other debris out of your sink drains in the first place. Following these few steps should keep you clog-free!
